KILLED AT CORYDON.

Wealthy Henderson County Land Owner Shot Dead.

His Slayer Also Perhaps Fatally Wounded During the Shoot-ing Bee.

Henderson, Ky., March 23.—A fatal shooting occurred at Corydon, this county, to-day, in which Green W. Pritchett was killed and John Belew, a farmer, fatally wounded. Bad blood existed between the two men over some business affairs, and when they met on the streets to-day Pritchett shot Belew and Belew shot Pritchett. With a bullet through his heart, Pritchett fired a third shot at Belew, but missed. Pritchett then fell and expired. Pritchett was one of the wealthiest men of this section. He was an extensive land owner and tobacco-planter. The coroner's verdict exonerated Belew.

For Liberty and Succeeded in Getting Away.

Wade was taken to the jail by constable Allen who left the prisoner in charge of his (Allen's) brother in order that he could go to the Court House after the jailer. Wade complained of being hot and taking of his overcoat handed it to the guard. The prisoner then suddenly dashed around corner and made good his escape. He ran to the river and although he had a considerable start, the local officers who accompanied the Allen's searched for him until after dark. They traced him by his tracks for about three miles down the river but failed to overtake him.

White or Brown Eggs?

It is a curious fact that certain markets demand eggs of one color or shade and others demand other colors. Eggs that sell at the highest price in New York, would not be considered the best in Boston, because of the difference in color. There is a prevalent notion in some parts of the country that brown or dark colored eggs are better than white ones. However this notion may have become current, there is no difference in the flavor or value of eggs that have been produced under similar conditions. The egg of a Brahma is no richer nor of better flavor than that of the Leghorn, if the feed provided for both breeds is the same.

The eggs from an individual hen may be richer than the eggs from another. Richness cannot be fed into eggs by feeding hens rich food. Hens must be fed on such food, the elements of which go to make eggs, and that is as far as the feeder can go in the production of eggs. Feed will flavor the eggs very often, especially if fowls are fed on such pungent food as onions. Eggs differ in size and freshness, and these are the qualities that recommend them to the buyer. Food rich in elements that go to form eggs, if it can be assimilated by the hen will increase the number of eggs laid, but no increase can be obtained in quality. The color of the yolk is sometimes influenced by the kind of food given, but analysis will not indicate any increased richness. —Com. Poultry.

Concerning Eggs.

If it costs in actual money $1 a year to keep them, and the hen lays 200 eggs there is a net profit of 50 per cent even though the average price of eggs is only 12c a dozen.

As no other farm stock would pay this average profit, this subject is one that should be studied. On this subject a poultryman gives the following facts:

The pullet that begins to lay at the earliest age and continues to lay the longest is the ideal mother for a strain of good layers.

It does not matter much what the breed may be, so the proper feed and care is given. A hit and miss plan of selecting breeders will never improve a breed. The man who would improve a strain of layers, should know the individual so well that he knows for himself which ones are oftenest on the nest.

This he will soon learn if his powers of observation are at all good. It is because this is true that we have poultry fanciers—men who will give their whole attention to their stock. The average market poultryman has other things to do and other things that must be attended to. He must look to the fancier for breeders that will produce a large number of eggs for his foundation stock.

Shown by The Trap Nest.

At the Utah agricultural college they have been looking after the utility end of breeding. They have been using the trap nest. One brood of chicks was matured and given a year's test with these nests. One pullet laid less than 100 eggs during the year, and one pullet laid 216 eggs. That was doing better than the books require, as 200 eggs per year is the largest number supposed to be laid by the hens of any breed. With such means of finding out the good and poor hens the latter may be killed off till only the profitable ones remain. The ordinary farm flock contains a few excellent layers but a good many that do not pay the cost of keeping them.—Pelatuma Journal.

SAYS HE WILL WIN.

Ex-Kentuckian Democratic Candidate For Governor of Michigan.

Mr. R. Lee Suter, of the Board of Public Works, is in receipt of a letter from Mr. John F. Bible, of Iowa, Mich., on his candidacy for Governor of Michigan, in which Mr. Bible says: "The conditions are very peculiar in Michigan this year, and if the present Governor is re-nominated—as it seems certain that he will be, because the Federal machine has so ordered—I believe it is not only possible for a Democrat to be elected, but I think the chances are more favorable to the Democrats than to the Republicans."

Mr. Bible is a Southerner by birth and is well known in Kentucky. In 1889 he accepted the position of assistant manager Owensboro Wagon Co., of Owensboro, and in addition to having the general supervision of the shops, he spent more or less time on the road, soon largely increasing the output of the company. His duties often took him to Michigan, and he became acquainted with some of the Iowa Wagon Company. He became general superintendent of the business in July, 1893, and three years later was elected secretary and general manager, and is today one of the two owners of the big property.

Bible's friends brought him out for the Democratic nomination for Governor, and it is believed he will have no opposition before the convention to name a ticket for State offices. Many of the Democratic papers of Michigan have come out for Mr. Bible and Mr. Suter believes he will be the nominee and the next Governor of Michigan.—Courier Journal.

MARCH.

From the Calendar of Editor Bliss.

The sun will cross the equinox on the 21st, there will be a full moon the 23rd, Good Friday comes on the 28th, with seed potatoes selling at two dollars a bushel, and the Easter hat will be ripe on the 30th. This will be the greatest month that ever perambulated down the pike or abominated up to the bar. It will be full of wonderful events, phenomena and fights in the senate, with Edward VII still the uncrowned king of England and the big market weak. After Easter we expect spring. When the sap begins to rise, When the wild geese northward flies, When the buzzard's in the skies, When we hear the robin's cries, When the horsemen advertise, Then it's spring. When the geese begin to nest, When the frogs wake from their rest, When the hens all do their best, When the schoolboy sheds his vest And takes a bad cold in his chest, Then it's spring. When the horse begins to shed, When the brood-sow makes her bed, When the gobbler's neck turns red, When the candidates are bled, And to the nearest bar are led, Then it's spring. —Montgomery, Ill., News.

Uncle Sam's Big Trade With France.

Washington, Mar. 20.—The United States stood second on the list of nations from which France purchased her supplies last year, and fourth in the list of purchasers of products of French origin, according to a report United States Consul Thibault, at Havre, dated February 20, and made public at the State Department to-day. Last year, it is stated, France imported $93,002,261 worth of goods from the United States and exported $46,226,002 worth to the United States, a balance in our favor of $46,776,259.

Spasmodic Advertising.

Many business firms indulge in what may be called "spasmodic" advertising, apparently thinking that in the rush and clamor of business dealers are going to call a halt and invoke memory to resurrect them from the jaws of oblivion. This is a fallacy, as the experience of men well versed in the art of advertising well know. People in want of certain goods scan the columns of a journal for dealers in or manufacturers of those lines because it is the speediest and surest way of reaching them. If their name is there, all right; if it is not, they will undoubtedly get left, as the busy dealer, if he remembers them at all, will suppose they have not got what he wants, or they would let it be known in a regular way through accepted channels. A big show in a single issue may be a good thing for that once, but people have their own affairs to remember and can not lumber their memories with others. The experience of men who have made advertising a study and have profited by it because it has been done methodically and with distinct ends in view, is that the very best plan, and one that is productive of the best results, is to keep well-worded advertisements running throughout the year, and, as often as a novelty or a new idea appears in stock, to let the world know all about it.—Baker's Record.

Beaver Dam's Cannery Project.

Beaver Dam, Ky., March 20.—Nearly fifty of Beaver Dam's representative business men attended the court room meeting last night for the establishment of a cannery factory and packing house. C. M. Taylor and P. O. Anstie were appointed a committee to visit the cannery factories in Southern Indiana to obtain the necessary information concerning their operation. It is intended to get the cannery in operation in time to consume this year's crop of fruit and vegetables.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose. Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail for ten cents, free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonials received from sufferers cured. THE CUBAN REPUBLIC its Government to Be Inaugurated on February 24.

Tomas Estrada Palma, the President-Elect, believes that Future of Island Depends on American Friendship.

The Cuban election for presidential and senatorial electors and members of the house of representatives and governors of provinces on January 1 resulted in the choice of electors who will cast their votes on February 24 for Gen. Tomas Estrada Palma for president and Dr. Luis Esteve, once secretary of justice in Gen. Wood's cabinet, for vice president of the republic. There was practically no opposition at the polls, Gen. Juso, the opposing candidate, having withdrawn; but there were partisan expressions of dissatisfaction. Gen. Palma was called by his political enemies the American candidate and the candidate of the bureaucracy; but the best evidence is of at least acquiescence if not satisfaction. Gen. Palma may properly be called the American candidate in this sense—that he accepts the settlement of the whole Cuban question that was brought about under the Platt resolution. For this there could have been no other choice of a president fit. He is a Cuban by birth and a lawyer by early training. His father was a rich planter in the province of Santiago when the so-called Ten Years' war against Spain began in 1895, and his property was confiscated and his wife was killed. Young Palma enlisted and attained high military rank, and he was at last chosen president of the provisional government of the island. After nearly nine years' fighting he was carried to Spain as a prisoner; he refused to swear allegiance to Spain as the price of freedom, but when the insurrection ended he was released and he went to Honduras, where for a time he held important public positions, and married a daughter of the president of Honduras. He returned to the United States, and made his home at the village of Central Valley in New York, where he has kept a school for Cuban boys. He has not been in Cuba for 20 years. In 1895 he became the head of the Cuban junta in New York, and did energetic service against Spanish rule. He was elected the first president of the Cuban republic without an effort on his part. He is now 60 years old, and he is a man in whom the sound advice of the Cuban people is confident. On the day after his election Mr. Palma declared that the principal object of the Cuban republic should be, first of all, to secure the most friendly relations with the American people, and secondly, to secure the Cuban people in the hour of need. They should always be in mind the work of the United States in helping them to obtain independence from Spanish rule. At the same time they should try to secure from the Washington government all the advantages possible for the Cuban people by reasonable reductions of the import duties, especially on sugar and tobacco, as this is the only way for Cuba to escape the absolute ruin of these two industries, which are the basis of its actual wealth.

The talking and dissatisfied party, whose leader is Gen. Bartolome Maso, has the possibility of mischievous opposition—not open opposition of the American kind, but rather the sort of treacherous opposition which the Latin-American method of opposition.

Marriage Brokers in Italy.
Marriage brokers are regular institutions in Italy. In Genoa there are several marriage brokers, who have pocketbooks filled with the names of marriageable girls of the different classes, with notes of their physical personal attractions, fortune and other circumstances. These brokers go about endeavoring to arrange marriages, and when they succeed they get a commission of two or three per cent upon the dowry, with an extra of bonuses as may be voluntarily bestowed by the party.

ANNOUNCEMENT!

We are authorized to announce
MR. W. E. HILL,
of Christian County, as a candidate for Railroad Commissioner in the First Railroad District of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Democratic party. Election Nov. 25, 1902.

The Southern and Northern branches of the Methodist church are taking steps towards the federation of their mission work.

Acting President Schalk-Burger, of the Transvaal Republic, and Lord Kitchener have had a meeting and it is believed have opened negotiations looking to peace.

John Kelly, of Baltimore, was suddenly stricken dumb a few days ago while uttering bitter and blasphemous curses in the presence of his wife.

Gen Miles' independence may cause him to be retired by the President. He is past 62 years of age and can be retired at the discretion of the President, who is known to have no kindly feelings for the General.

As was expected, Gov. Beckham vetoed the bill preventing the "docking" or mutilation of horses' tails in Kentucky. This bill was strongly supported by all the humane societies of the State and passed the General Assembly with but slight opposition. Gov. Beckham, who allowed himself to be influenced in the matter by the few people in the state at whom the legislation was aimed, has not strengthened his hold on public opinion by his attitude on "horses' tails."

A successful practical test of wireless telephony was made on the Potomac river. The test was made from an instrument on the shore to an instrument on the steamer one third of a mile away. A wire was grounded on the shore and wires from the boat were dropped over the stern into the water. The sound of a harmonica, while partially indistinct, was readily recognized, as was also the sound of the human voice counting. The experiment was made under the direction of Mr. Nathaniel Stubbins, of Murray, Ky., who is an expert. Experiments of wireless telephony were also made on the ground. These tests were more satisfactory. Talking was plainly heard, as was also music. Mr. Stubbins made the experiment with miniature instruments. He maintains that with larger instruments there is no limit to the field.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

BETHLEHEM COLLEGE NOTES.

After an absence of several days Miss Edith Allen returned to school last Friday.

Miss Katherine Jones enjoyed a few days' visit home last week.

The prayer meeting was conducted by Miss Lucy White last Wednesday. The attendance was good and much interest taken.

Misses Mary and Lucy White visited their home in Cadiz the latter part of the week.

Misses Mary Wright and Mabel Hille were guests at a candy pulling given at the home of Mr. Geo. Long to the members of his Sunday school class on last Friday evening. The others present were the young ladies of South Kentucky college. The earlier part of the evening was spent in guessing contests. In the first, which consisted of questions on the last quarter's Sunday school lessons, Miss Hille won as a prize a box of lovely carnations. In another contest over the measurements and weights of six potatoes, the prize, a box of bon bon, was awarded to Miss Bernice Waller as the most successful contestant.

The pulling of the candy was the best feature of the evening and was entered into with school girl enjoyment.

At half-past ten the guests departed, declaring Mr. Long to be not only a good teacher but a good host as well; and feeling much indebted to him and to Mrs. Long for the delightful evening. The girls say that examinations like this one are fine.

Miss Polly Graues and Miss Nannie Stone enjoyed two days in the country with Mrs. Geo. Holloway last week.

Quite an entertaining evening was afforded to the school on last Saturday by Miss Newman's table.

Misses Della and Cecyle Gaines, Patty Bartley, Ione Soyars and Jennie Graham were the present. A school play, The Elkhair Youth, and some amusing charades were given in the chapel. The guests were then invited to another room where oranges with whipped cream and cake were served.

The evening was quite a diversion from the week of school work and was one of the most enjoyable we have had for some time.

KALOGNETIC SOCIETY NOTES.

The business meeting was held at the usual time in the society hall last week. Under new business it was proposed that the society should begin planning some way to raise means for completing the stage in the chapel. After some discussion it was moved that we should give the second of our series of entertainments on Monday evening of commencement week. The motion was seconded and carried by a majority vote.

The programme consisted entirely of musical numbers. This illustrates the fact that in striving toward our goal, "The Beautiful," we must have at our command the powers of music.

Game to Cerulean.

M. T. W. Witty, formerly of Julian, has moved to Cerulean Springs, where he will open up a blacksmith and wheelwright shop. Some months ago Mr. Witty lost his effects by fire at Julian and since that time he had been living in this city.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.

How to Find Out. Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours. If you find a sediment or anything indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do. There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that urgent necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and non-stimulating effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c and dollar bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

IN GRASP OF GRIP

Only Few Weeks When Death Came as Relief.

Dr. Francis Wardroper, who died at Garrettsburg last Wednesday, at the advanced age of 85, was a native of England. He came to America when a young man and practiced medicine at Lexington, Ky., for several years. He had been a resident of Christian county for many years and was a much esteemed citizen. He had not been in very good health for some time, but the immediate cause of death was grip.

Deceased is survived by eight children, three sons and five daughters. One daughter, Mrs. W. J. E. Allen, lives near Garrettsburg; another is the wife of Mr. Gus Rodgers, principal of the deaf and dumb institute at Danville, Ky., and Miss Mariah Wardroper, who teaches in the same institute, is also his daughter. One of his sons, Prof. John H. Wardroper, of St. Bethlehem, Tenn., formerly taught school in this county. Mrs. W. LaRue Thomas, of Pittsburg, Pa., is a daughter of deceased.

Dr. Wardroper was a member of the Baptist church.

The remains were interred at Lexington Friday.

Biographical.

On Wednesday March 19th, 1902, at noon, Doctor Frank Wardroper died at the home of his son-in-law, Mr. W. E. Allen, near Garrettsburg, Ky.

Doctor Wardroper was born at Arundel, Sussex county, England on Dec. 10th, 1816, hence, lacking only fourteen years of being a centenarian a length of life that but few attain.

He is survived by his wife, Mary M. Wardroper and eight children, who reside in widely separated parts of the country, and in order of their births are named as follows:

Mrs. W. LaRue Thomas, of Pittsburg, Pa.; Miss Marie L. Wardroper, Danville, Ky.; Mrs. W. E. Allen, Garrettsburg, Ky.; Frank Wardroper, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma; John Holmes Wardroper, St. Bethlehem, Tenn.; Mrs. Augusta Rogers, Danville, Ky.; D. Lee Wardroper, Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. Percy Jones, Paris, Ky.

Doctor Wardroper's life was one of restless activity.

After completing a well grounded and thorough classical education, at an unusual early age, he attended lectures and was awarded a diploma at St. Bartholomew's Hospital, London, attaining the degree of Doctor of Medicine with distinction. Soon after he was made a member of the Royal College of Surgeons. In 1839 he came to the United States, landing at Galveston, Texas. Before deciding upon a location to practice his profession he traveled over large part of country east of the Mississippi and finally settled in Conecuh county, Alabama. Here he met and married his life helpmate who still survives him after being his close and loving companion and wife for fifty-seven years.

He resided in that part of Alabama until just before the Civil War, when he removed to Central Kentucky.

Being exempt from military service himself, yet two of his brothers served in the Confederate army, one of whom lost his life in the cause for which the South fought, and is buried at Forsyth, Ga.

In the practice of his profession in Woodford and Fayette counties for more than twenty-five years, he attained a wide reputation. He was a gentleman in the highest sense. He was devoted to his wife and children and for their good and comfort would freely sacrifice himself. He possessed the highest and noblest virtues as a man, as a brother, as a father and as a husband.

Pneumonia Can Be Prevented.

This disease always results from a cold or an attack of the grip and may be prevented by the timely use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This remedy was extensively used during the epidemics of la grippe of the past few years, and not a single case has ever been reported which had not recovered or that resulted in pneumonia, which shows it to be a certain preventive of that dangerous disease. The Heavy Male Tax.

One of the heaviest items of expense to which the poultry breeder, whether amateur or professional, subjects himself is superfluous male birds. For eight months in the year all male birds are simply a nuisance, and since we know about how many male breeders we shall want during the remaining four months why do we keep so many of these useless fellows as "boarders who don't pay their bills?"

We may ascribe it to ignorance on the part of the amateur, but really he is not more guilty than the old-time professional. The latter vows by all that is good that he "will never do it again. No, sir, I'll kill off one-half of my old cocks and one-half of all my cockerels by the first of July next year, for they will bring as much money then as they will at Thanksgiving or Christmas, and I'll save all that feed." But the first of July and the first of August come and go and these unprofitable boarders are still with him.

Why is it? Simply a lack of nerve on his part to do what both observation and experience tell him he should do. He is afraid to put his own good judgment into execution. Old Herod ordered the slaughter of hundreds of male children that he might be sure that a certain one should be in the number, but Mr. Poultrykeeper saves the life of hundreds of cockerels, forsooth, lest he might in his slaughter kill for a half-dollar one one that might some day be worth two dollars or five dollars. Far better to sacrifice a few good birds than to feed so many so long for absolutely nothing.

But there is very little danger of killing really superior birds by mistake if they have passed the age of two months, and by July first all prospective breeding birds of American or Asiatic varieties should be more than two months old. For it is the late hatched cockerels, reared in too crowded quarters, that are too small, too immature to ever reach that hearty and vigorous development so essential to the successful sire.

Not only is it a saving of feed that counts for much, especially in a year like this, when all kinds of feed are so high priced, but the increased room that the others have in which they may range and cat and shade them selves during the heated months of July, August and September, and still more, the room in which they may roost and lounge and feed be comfortable after the cold weather of November has set in—this is the most important thing. The space ordinarily given to one hundred cockerels, if assigned to only fifty, will usually develop a crop that, though smaller in numbers, will bring just as much money owing to increased quality.

And if this item reaches the eye of any farmer who breeds poultry merely as a side-line, but who likes to see the profits coming in, let me ask him if he had marketed every male bird on his place last July, thus saving seven months of expensive feeding, does he not see that his accounts would balance much better to-day, even though he must needs turn out next month and buy a few male birds for the coming breeding season.

One more point to the farmer and I am done: Too many male birds are kept, even during the breeding season. If you do not keep more than forty hens, and you allow them to run at large, and desire to set eggs from them all indiscriminately, two good, active male birds are enough. Under these circumstances of range and activity you will get a higher percentage of fertility than from fowls in confinement even with the ordinary ratio of one male to eight females. But why save eggs for hatching from so many? If you have forty hens,

Cancer Cured by Blood Balm.

ALL SKIN AND BLOOD DISEASE CURED.

Mrs. M. L. Adams, Fredonia, Ariz., took Botanic Blood Balm which effectually cured an eating cancer of the nose and face. The sores healed up perfectly. Many doctors had given up her case as hopeless, hundred cases of cancer, eating sores, suppurating swelling, etc., have been cured by Blood Balm. Among others, Mrs. B. M. Guernsey, Warrior Stand, Ala., her nose and lip were raw as beef, with offensive discharge from the eating sore. Doctors advised cutting, but it failed. Blood Balm healed the sores, and Mrs. Guernsey is as well as ever. Botanic Blood Balm also cures eczema, itching humors, scabs and sores, bone pains, ulcers, offensive pimples, blood poison, carbuncles, scrofula, risings and bumps on the skin and all blood troubles. Druggists, $1 per large bottle. Sample of Botanic Blood Balm free and prepaid by writing Blood Balm Co., Atlanta Ga. Do not trouble and send special mail advice sent in sealed letter. It is certainly worth while investigating such remarkable remedy, as Blood Balm cures the most awful, worst and most deep-seated blood diseases.

select fifteen of the very best specimens and give them the advantages of range and liberty and exercise accompanied by one fine, active male bird, and save their eggs for hatching. Keep the other twenty-five to produce eggs for eating, and to do the hatching and rearing, if you still refuse to use incubators and brooders, and you will be surprised to see how many chicks you will hatch. Your fifteen hens in the one hundred days following February 15th ought to give you from seven hundred to one thousand eggs. If your birds are pure bred, fine specimens and correctly mated we'd rather have one sitting from them than two sittings from birds kept in close confinement and without sufficient exercise even though the latter are really the finer specimens.—T. E. Orr in Commercial Poultry.

NO SIMILAR ACCIDENT

Has Ever Been Heard, of Say Railroad men.

Oliver McVeigh, a resident of Jackson, Miss., was killed at Kentwood, La., in an accident without precedent in the railroad world. As the Chicago limited Illinois Central train was going south making up lost time, when just opposite the new depot on which McVeigh was at work, the engine struck a cow, killing it instantly and tossing it high in the air. The dead cow came down on McVeigh, who was not far distant from the train. His neck was broken, his skull and both arms and legs fractured. Death was instantaneous.

Railway men say no similar accident has ever been heard of.

Forcible Facts.

Hypnotism the Only Explanation for Some of Their Startling Illusions.

Wonderful stories are told of the powers of the Hindu fakirs. Careful attention to their tricks has not discovered their secret with any certainty, but Capt. James Parker, the English traveler, who has just returned from a tour of India, gives it as his belief that hypnotism is the means by which they accomplish their most startling illusions. One incident which he describes seems to bear out his view.

The trick which is acknowledged to be the greatest of these Hindu mystic performances, says Capt. Parker, and the one that has been described by trustworthy persons as often to be doubted, is the one in which the fakir throws a ball of twine into the air above him, until it disappears from sight. The loose ends of the string he holds in his hand, and after the boy assistant has climbed up the string until he, too, is out of sight, the fakir himself follows with a knife between his teeth.

The spectators, surprised when both boy and man climb out of sight, are horrified when the boy's severed head, arms and legs, followed by the trunk, fall to the ground, and the man slides down close behind. Their astonishment is increased when the fakir gathers the severed members and restores the boy to life.

Well, I saw this performance once, and once I didn't see it; and the latter experience was more wonderful than the other. I had some London friends visiting me, and after having left them for a few minutes on the veranda of my bungalow, I saw, as I was returning, the same fakir and his assistant, whom I had seen perform the trick, standing about 40 feet in front of my friends, apparently preparing to begin a performance. As I was about as far behind the natives as my friends were in front of them, and had not been observed, I stood quietly where I was.

The man placed a drawn knife between his teeth, took the usual ball of twine in his right hand, made a motion as if throwing it into the air, and then stood perfectly quiet. My friends on the veranda were looking into the upper air with astonishment on their faces, which in a moment turned to a look of horror as their eyes came back to the ground. In another minute their countenances lighted up with pleasure, and they applauded roundly.

They could not say enough about the wonderful performance I had seen, and they were astonished beyond measure when I told them I had been as near the fakir as they had, and had seen nothing of what had so wonderfully impressed them.

If that was not hypnotism, what was it?

HE WASN'T THERE YET.

Cash Boy Who Was Afraid of Doing a Little Too Much.

Wherever one may go, in factory, office or store, there are always some employees who, no matter if they reach their places of employment ahead of time, in the morning or at noon, make it a point never to begin work until the clock strikes the whistle blows on the bell rings.

Shortly before one o'clock a few days ago a saleswoman in a large dry goods store in Milwaukee, says the Sentinel, having made a sale, had occasion to call for a cash boy. No one responded to her summons. Just then she espied a boy sitting a short distance from where she stood.

"Here, boy," said she to the little fellow, "take this to the counter and have it done up."

"I ain't here yet," replied the youngster, with the utmost coolness and unconcern.

As the woman could not induce the boy to stir, she was obliged to call for another.

Steering by Electricity.

The earl of Crawford has devised a means of manipulating a vessel's rudder by means of electricity from any part of the ship. A practical demonstration of the invention was recently given upon the inventor's steam yacht Vellula in the Solent before several representatives of the British and Japanese navies, who were considerably impressed with the device. It is stated that the British admiral proposes to give the invention a thorough trial upon one of the battleships. The most prominent feature of the device is that it is not so liable to accident as the steam gear, and it is much easier to manipulate.—Scientific American.

Delayed.

Miss Katie McDaniel has not yet received her supplies from the Superintendent of Public Instruction. The delay is explained in the following:

"The delay in shipping the census supplies is due to the fact that the blank paper for printing was lost in shipping and has not reached the printer. As soon as it is received the supplies will be printed and shipped to you. We regret the delay very much, but is unavoidable.

Danger of Colds and La Grippe.

The greatest danger from colds and la grippe is their resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for these diseases, we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that it is a certain preventive of that dangerous malady. It will cure a cold or an attack of la grippe in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by all druggists.

Hotel Henderson Leased.

Mr. Henry W. Herndon, formerly of Louisville, and who last summer managed the Grayson Springs Hotel, has leased the Hotel Henderson and will take charge of it April 1. Mr. Herndon is a well known and popular hotel man and should do well with the Henderson house.

La Grippe Quickly Cured.

"In the winter of 1898 and 1899 I was taken down with a severe attack of what is called La Grippe," says F. L. Hewett, a prominent druggist of Winfield, Ill. "The only medicine I used was two bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It broke up the cold and stopped the coughing like magic, and I have never since been troubled with Grippe." Chamberlain's Cough Remedy can always be depended upon to break up a severe cold and ward off any threatened attack of pneumonia. It is pleasant to take, too, which makes it the most desirable and one of the most popular preparations in use for these ailments. For sale by all druggists.

COLORED COUPLE

Of Crofton Elope to Springfield to Get Married.

Probably the only colored couple of Christian county that ever eloped to Springfield, Tenn., to get the nuptial knot tied, were married in that place one morning last week by Esq. J. I. Holman. Their names were William Tapp and Tallie Bishop. They live near Crofton and went over to Tennessee on the morning express and returned home on the next train.
